Summer Camping/Floating Trip 2015

July 31 – Aug 2

Join your friends on another journey down the Delaware River for some relaxin' & raftin'.
Our campsite is Jerry's Three Rivers, just north of Port Jervis, NY - where PA, NJ and NY meet.

❖ Friday, we make our way up to Jerry's (Pond Eddy, NY) during the evening hours, arriving anywhere from 6pm to 2am (it's a 3ish hour drive). That night we have fun and play games around the campfire.

❖ Saturday, we wake up, enjoy a yummy camp breakfast and head across the street for some floating on a raft (and tubes)! The trip downstream takes about 6 hours with lots of scenic views and a few rapids (nothing major) - we travel at a very leisurely rate (this is NOT a race), so be prepared to relax. Lunch will be served as we float down the Delaware - at the finish, Jerry's folks pick us up and take us back to the campsite. That evening, we sit around the campfire, cook dinner and then settle in for more fun and games!

❖ Sunday, it's pack up, good-byes, breakfast at Homer's (or whatever it's called now) and a quiet trip home.

The weekend is $120, which includes two nights camping, one day of rafting, Friday night snacks, Saturday breakfast, lunch and dinner, lots of liquids, fun campfire games, and other silly things.

You should bring:

Sleeping bag or reasonable facsimile, tent (if you have one - I have extras), pillow, sheet, blanket, swimsuit, grungy/boating shoes for rafting, sunblock, towels, camp-y things, hat, flashlight, and whatever else you want! It's a private campground, so they have showers, electrical outlets, etc.

Please clip and return this to Ed real soon!
